

JOB INTERVIEW

HOW TO SUCCESS ON JOB INTERVIEW ?

15 Tips on How To Interview Successfully

1. Research the company

2. Prepare for behavioral interview questions

3. Prepare for different types of interviews

- Out-of-office interviews

- Video and phone interviews

4. Always practice

5. Prepare answers to common interview questions

6. Prepare questions to ask the interviewer

7. Behave professionally

8. Get insider information

9. Dress appropriately for the position

10. Be ready for small talk

11. Use techniques to help you calm down on the day of the interview

12. Items to have with you for the interview

13. Build rapport with the interviewer

14. Be authentic

15. Always follow up

JOB INTERVIEW ON-LINE

- ✓ Good dressing though no one see you
- ✓ Good background , light and sound
- ✓ Watch camera, not watch screen or script
- ✓ Check application or program before staring the interview
- ✓ Excellent internet sign
- ✓ Beware other distraction in and outside
- ✓ Stand by the interviewer

Exercise : Job interview in class (4 points)

Job Interview in the class :

- ✓ Answer questions from an interviewer.

(HR from a company)

THANK YOU

1. Research the company

- Research the company before to learn about its mission statement, values and industry-related news.
- You can find information about the company's current projects and how financially stable it is.
- You may also connect with former and current employees on a professional social networking platform to determine how the company treats its employees.

2. Prepare for behavioral interview questions

- Behavior-based interviewing involves the interviewer asking you how you handled specific situations in your previous roles.
- The purpose of this interviewing technique is to give the potential employer insight into how you approach challenges in the workplace and whether you can turn them into opportunities.
- To prepare for this type of interview question, you can start by making a list of your strengths, weaknesses and skills.
- Prepare examples of when you used these qualities successfully.

3. Prepare for different types of interviews

- A recruiter may use one of several Interview formats and settings.
- Preparing for different types of interviews can help you feel more confident and ready.
- Besides the traditional one-on-one interview, there are hiring events, panels and open interviews.

❑ Out-of-office interviews

- An out-of-office interview may involve meeting the interviewer for lunch or dinner.
- Arrive early enough to be there before the interviewer.
- It may be helpful to look at the restaurant menu online and decide what you want to order.
- Also, research the restaurant ahead of time to ensure you know how to dress appropriately.

□ Video and phone interviews

- Find a quiet room where you won't be interrupted by friends, flat mates or family during the interview.
- Make sure the Internet is working properly and the lighting is appropriate.
- Practice using your technology beforehand to make sure it works efficiently.

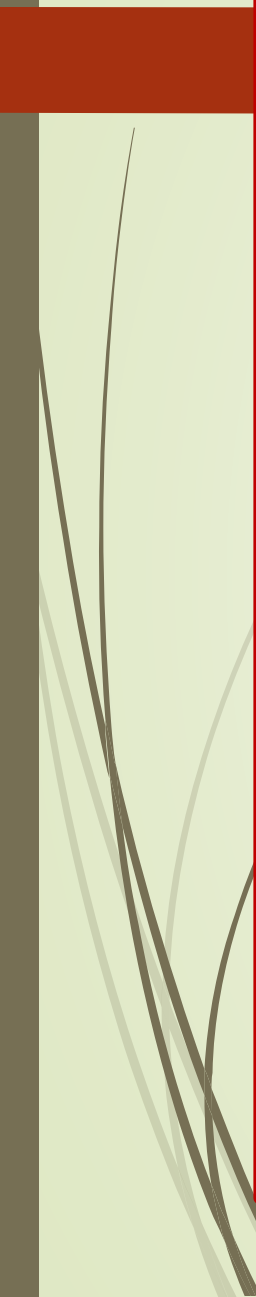

4. Always practice

- Practicing can help you feel more at ease.
- You can ask a family member or a friend to do a mock interview with you to get their feedback on how you conduct yourself.
- An alternative way to practice for an interview is to record yourself and study your body language and responses to questions.
- Seeing yourself on a recording can provide valuable insights into improving your body language during an interview.

5. Prepare answers to common interview questions

➤ Here are common interview questions:

- Would you mind telling me about yourself?
- How did you find out about this role?
- Why did this role appeal to you?
- Why should we hire you?
- What are your strengths?
- What are your weaknesses?
- Would you mind telling us what you know about the company?

-
- Where do you see yourself in five years?
 - What is your work ethic?
 - Do you prefer a specific type of work environment?
 - How do you handle disagreements with your team members about work-related matters?
 - How would your current manager and team members describe you?
 - How do you handle severe work pressure?

6. Prepare questions to ask the interviewer

- Asking questions shows your interest in the company and the position.
 - How many candidates of this position ?
 - If I don't pass interview for this position , are there other works match to my qualification ?
 - What's the main job description of this position ?
 - What are the best selling product of company ?
 - Are there any plan to extend any projects to oversea countries ?

7. Behave professionally

- Be sure to behave professionally when you go for an interview.
- It's essential to treat the people you meet before, during and after the interview with respect.
- Make sure to dress appropriately and be polite to everyone.
- The recruiter may ask their colleagues for some feedback

8. Get insider information

- If you know anyone working at the company you're interviewing with, contact them to learn about the work environment and the company culture.
- If you don't know anyone working at the company, visit their website and social media channels to learn more about their culture.
- Learning about the company can help you think of relevant questions to ask the interviewer.

9. Dress appropriately for the position

- To leave a positive first impression on the interviewer, make sure to dress appropriately for the position when you go for an interview.
- Decide on an interview outfit in advance and have it cleaned and ready to avoid rushing on the day of the interview.
- Remember you may need to iron your clothes. Make sure your outfit fits well,
- and only wear simple accessories.
- The outfit you choose for your interview depends on the company and its culture.
- Researching the company can help you know whether the company has a more casual or formal dress code. You can also ask the person who scheduled your interview what the company's dress code

10. Be ready for small talk

- You may need to interact with the interviewer on a personal level. To help you prepare for this, practise typical conversation topics. Your preparation can help you feel more confident if the situation occurs. Follow these tips to practise your small talk skills:
 - Talk about the work environment where the interview takes place. You can complement the office location or its design.
 - Compliment the employer if the company has recently won awards or achieved specific milestones.
 - Try to identify a common interest you share with the interviewer and have a conversation about it.
 - Always remain positive during

11. Use techniques to help you calm down on the day of the interview

- Prepare and use stress management techniques to stay calm on the day of the interview.
- Make sure to present yourself for the interview five to ten minutes before it starts.
- If you arrive too early, go to a coffee shop or wait inside your car.
- If you plan to drive to the interview, drive to the location before the interview to get to know the route and where to park.

next page

11. Use techniques to help you calm down on the day of the interview

- Be sure to leave early to avoid possible heavy traffic in the area.
Although it's normal to be anxious, it's essential to remain as calm as possible throughout the interview.
- If you don't understand a question, ask for clarification and take your time to respond.

12. Items to have with you for the interview

- A printed version of your CV
- A list of references
- A portfolio
- A list of the questions you'd like to ask the interviewer
- A notebook and pen to take notes

13. Build rapport with the interviewer

- You can use your interview to create a connection with the interviewer.
- Although the interviewer might ask most of the questions, you can use your responses to each question to turn the interview into a conversation with them.
- Try to connect to the interviewer on a personal level while remaining professional.

14. Be authentic

Although preparation and practice can help you have a successful interview, try to be yourself. It's best to remain positive, confident and assertive. Respond to questions candidly and concisely.

15. Always follow up

- After your interview, write a brief email to thank the interviewer for the opportunity.
- You can reiterate your interest in that specific role and mention some details you might have forgotten during the interview.
- This can help cement your interview in the interviewer's mind and help them recall important aspects of your skills and qualifications.