- 1. *INTROVERT : comfortable focusing on their inner thought and ideas.
- 2. *EXTROVERT : feel energized by the external world and social interactions.
- 3. *AMBIVERT : has features of both an introvert and extrovert.

An introvert is a person with qualities of a personality type known as introversion, which means that they feel more comfortable focusing on their inner thoughts and ideas, rather than what's happening externally. They enjoy spending time with just one or two people, rather than large groups or crowds. Sep 3, 2565 BE

The term extroversion describes an aspect of a personality that is often characterized by expressive and outgoing patterns of behavior. People who are extroverts tend to be very talkative, sociable, active, and warm. Jung defined an extrovert as someone who feels energized by the external world and social interactions.
